PRACTICAL GUIDE

THE CITY OF THESSALONIKI

- Thessaloniki (Thessalonica, or Salonica), was founded around 315 BC by the King Cassander of Macedon. It is the second-largest city in Greece and the capital of Macedonia, the nation's largest region. Today more than 1 million people live in the metropolitan area, making it the second largest metropolitan area in Greece after Athens.
- Thessaloniki is North Greece's major economic, industrial, commercial and political centre; its commercial port is also of great importance for Greece. The city's industries centre on oil, steel, petrochemicals, textiles, machinery, flour, cement, pharmaceuticals and liquor. Being a free port, the city functions as the gateway to the Balkan hinterland. The city is also a major transportation hub for the whole of south-eastern Europe, carrying, among other things, trade to and from the newly capitalist countries of the region. A considerable percentage of the city's working forces are employed in small - and medium-sized businesses and in the service and the public sectors.

THE CITY OF THESSALONIKI

- Thessaloniki retains several Ottoman and Jewish structures, as well as a large number of Byzantine architectural monuments. Early Christian and Byzantine monuments of Thessaloniki are inscribed on the cultural UNESCO World Heritage list (<http://whc.unesco.org/en/list/456>).
- Culturally, Thessaloniki offers numerous museums and theaters, as well as a Concert Hall and the National Theater of Northern Greece. Thessaloniki is well known for its active scientific community with three Universities: the Aristotle University, the University of Macedonia and the Alexander Technological Educational Institution.
- Thessaloniki is the seat of CEDEFOP (European Centre for the Development of Vocational Training) and the Black Sea Trade and Development Bank headquarters. The city is also home to a number of festivals and events, including the Thessaloniki International Trade Fair.

STUDENT RESTAURANTS

- There are two student canteens, to be used by all beneficiaries. Students can show their certificate issued by the Erasmus Mundus for Mayanet and Assur (lunch meal costs 3,30 € and without extra cost the students can have dinner as well).
- The canteen is located within the campus of ATEI in Sindos (Opening hours 12:00-16:30 & 19:00-21:00).

CLIMATE

- Thessaloniki displays characteristics of both Mediterranean and continental climates. Winters are relatively dry, with common morning frost. Snowfalls are sporadic and usually the snow does not stay for more than a couple of days. The average temperature during the winter is 2-5°C. Thessaloniki's summers are hot with rather humid nights. The temperatures usually rise above 30°C and sometimes they go over 40°C. Rain is seldom in summer and mainly falls during thunderstorms.
- In general, the citizens of Thessaloniki enjoy plenty of sunny days throughout the year. On average, the climate is mild with an average temperature of 20°C.
